

WHEELING DOWN THE RUNWAY

New York Fashion Week is back on and one of the most heart-warming things I've seen so far has been FTL MODA enlisting a group of disabled models to display their new line, giving a whole new meaning to strutting down the runway.

From models in wheelchairs to amputees to others who required canes to walk, it was quite a beautifully unusual sight to see at Mercedes-Benz New York Fashion Week.

Sure, we have seen designer utilize real women to walk down the runway, like Carrie Hammer's "Role Models Not Runway Models," but this show displays a full reality of real people from all walks of life.

The clothing was provocative and the use of silver face paint and masks also really helped to set the tone of this show.

It's wonderful to see this Italian fashion company bring awareness to disabilities and give these individuals the dream of a lifetime to walk (or wheel) down one of the most prestigious runways.

Share Tweet g+ Share

View Related Articles

Personalized Gift For Your Man

Makeup to Heal and Nourish

Tech-Savvy Solar Charger

Oysters As Aphrodisiacs

The Signs of Measles

Speak Your Mind

Name *

Email *

Website

SIGN UP!

STAY UP-TO-DATE WITH OUR LATEST NEWS, WELLNESS TIPS, & HAPPENINGS.

SEARCH BY ITEM

SHANNA ISRAEL SITE CURATOR

To live a healthy life, you need accurate information. Knowledge is truly power when it comes to wellness.

beWell boutique

Shop for the latest natural and unique products to improve your health and lifestyle.

SHOP NOW! CHOOSE A TOPIC BELOW TO GET STARTED:

AUTISM SPECTRUM

BEAUTY

CANCER

GLUTEN FREE

PREVENTATIVE PRODUCTS

WELLNESS TERMS